COUNTIAN IN MISHAP

About 6 p.m. Saturday, a 1958 Chevrolet being driven west on Maryland Rt. 97 by Roy McGlaughlin, 40, of Fairfield, ran off the highway and struck a parked panel truck owned by John P. Lewis of Taneytown. The accident occurred near Bridgeport, Md., and just west of the Frederick-Carroll County line. McGlaughlin was charged with reckless driving.

SCOUTERS TO MEET

The Camping and Activities Committee of the Black Walnut Boy Scout District Committee will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Aspers Fire Hall to complete plans for the annual recognition dinner.

MISS CHAPMAN

MISS PLAGER

Conducting cooking school sessions, such as the 30th annual demonstrations of The Gettysburg Times which open this evening in the Gettysburg High School auditorium, is not all tea and crumpets for the two very personable, attractive and capable home economists, Miss Layneigh Chapman, the lecturer, and her assistant Miss Janice Plager.

They are a tedious and arduous task and it continues without let-up week after week for most of the year. The weekends, however, are reserved for traveling and for what little rest and relaxation they manage to muster, if possible.

We learned something of their daily schedule upon their arrival in Gettysburg Monday for the 1958 cooking school, tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

Secondary school teachers in the Baltimore - Washington - Wilming-ton area will participate in an In-Service Institute to improve methods and types of teaching, it was announced today by Sister Hilda Gleason, president of Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg. Open to teachers in the Catholic school of the area, the institute will begin Saturday at Seton High School, and will conclude June 6, 1959. Funds for the institute were provided through a grant to Saint Joseph College from the Raskob Foundation for Catholic Activities.

In accepting the trophy Lefever and Jones said that it will be difficult to select the recipient of the award. They said that the award is something "that any boy would be proud to receive" and that it should provide an incentive to boys in the school.

Those present and the churches they represented were: The Rev. Norman L. Bortner; Mrs. Vesta Hoffmann, Bethlehem; Bendersville; Paul Pitzer, St. James, Bendersville; Mrs. A. A. Maust, St. James, Gettysburg; Mrs. H. H. Beamer, St. Paul's, New Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hikes, Upper Bermudian, Gardners; Lester Davis, Mt. Zion, Goodyear; Mrs. Guy Herring, Trinity, Arendtsville; the Rev. George E. Shaffer, Ward Eason and William Stouck, First New Oxford; Mrs. J. Willis Weigle, St. Paul's, Bigerville; Miss Beulah Wentz and Maurice Fleser, Trinity, East Berlin; Mrs. A. W. Butterfield, Christ, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Samuel Musselman Sr., Zion, Fairfield.

Those parishes not represented at this organization meeting are invited to send their representatives to the LIM office, 109 York St., to obtain materials and instructions if they wish to be included in the launching of this program.

Training sessions are planned for the volunteers which will be scheduled early in November.

Similar meetings are scheduled in Carlisle and Chambersburg for the Lutheran parishes of Cumberland-Perry and Franklin-Fulton county areas.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME MONDAY AT IRISHTOWN

A family of seven was made homeless near Irishtown Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when a kerosene stove being used to heat water apparently exploded setting fire to their house.

Irishtown firemen said Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gorman, of Mt. Mis-tery, between New Oxford and Hanover, lost all of their possessions in the blaze which destroyed their rented home.

They added that the couple and their five children had no insurance on their lost property which included all of their clothes, with the exception of the ones they were wearing at the time, all of their furnishings and furniture and some cash that was in the house.

Adjournment was set for late afternoon.

Found Kitchen In Flames

Firemen said Mrs. Gorman had set some water on a three-burner kerosene stove and, having been suffering from a cold, had gone to rest on a couch.

Mrs. Gorman heard a crackling noise and found the kitchen in flames. She fled the house and telephoned the Irishtown Fire company from a neighbor's home. Irishtown firemen brought both their fire engines to the scene and called for help from other nearby companies, but the kerosene-fed fire spread through the story and a half frame dwelling faster than firemen could bring water to bear.

Among fire companies responding to the alarm were McSherrystown, Brushtown, Conewago, New Oxford and Bonneaville, called out by the Irishtown firemen by radio as the Irishtown firemen arrived at the scene and found that the fire was already licking through the roof of the structure.

An 18-year-old son was working in the yard at the home when it burst into flames, but was prevented from any attempt to rescue furnishings or other articles from the home by the rapidly spreading fire.

Appeal For Donations

Mr. Gorman was away at work. It was not known whether the C. H. Bittner estate, owner of the building, had insurance on the $300 structure.

The family spent the night with relatives while preparing to look for a new home.

Little Rock

Federal marshals clouted the plan to reopen the schools as private segregated institutions when they fanned out over the city Monday night serving scores of persons with copies of a restraining order.

The dilemma was sparked by two federal judges in Omaha, Neb., when they issued a restraining order at the request of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, supported by the federal government.

The order instructed all persons connected with the private school plan not to take "further action to transfer possession, control or operation, directly or indirectly," of Little Rock schools.

Had Surrendered Schools

It also forbade altering the status quo of the senior high schools insofar as their integrated status is concerned."

The order came a few hours after the School Board had turned the four high school buildings over to the Little Rock Private School Corp. and plans were in the mill to open the schools today.

The judges made their ruling retroactive to last Thursday after Justice Department Atty. Donald MacGuineas said the school lease had been executed in haste to complete action before the hearing.

Illegal Deer Cost
Trio $400 And Gun

Three Mt. Holly Springs men were arrested Saturday by state game protectors on charges growing out of the out of season killing of two deer in the South Mountain near Huntingdon.

They admitted the charges before Justice of the Peace Luther Peterson, Mt. Holly Springs, paid fines totaling $400 and costs.

Paul L. Smith, 29, was fined $200. He was charged with aiding and assisting in transportation parts of deer taken in a closed season and killing a deer through the use of artificial light. A 22 calibre telescope-equipped rifle owned by Smith was confiscated.

Spero J. Touloumous, 27, and Clarence Durf, 37, each were charged with aiding and assisting in transportation of the deer and were fined $100 each.

Homer Thrush who filed the charges said the trio used the headlights of Smith's car to spot the deer and shoot them.

File Papers In Annexation Plan

Attorney Edward B. Buleit filed with the county clerk of courts today papers in connection with a proposed annexation of 5 1/3 acres of Germany Twp. into the borough of Littlestown.

Filed were an agreement between the Germany Twp. supervisors and the Littlestown council concerning land along the west side of N. Queen St. (Gettysburg-Littlestown highway), and a petition from the owners of the land, Scott S. Bair, David S. Weinberg and P. A. and S. Small Co., asking to be admitted to the borough.

Tipton Services Held On Monday

Funeral services for Robert E. Tipton, 79, Gettysburg R. 2, who died Wednesday evening at the Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill officiating. Military rites were held at the grave.

Pallbearers all from the local VFW post, were Charles Kerrigan, William Chamberlain, Dale Myers and Robert Browner.

Petticoat Bankers
Topic Of Speech

"Petticoat Bankers" will be the topic which Mrs. Eleanor Parry, secretary to the president of the York County National Bank, York, will discuss at the meeting Wednesday of the Adams County Bankers Association.

Elmer Hoke, president of the association, announced that the meeting will be in Trinity United Church of Christ, Biglerville, at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Parry's talk will concern the increasing value to banks of the female worker and the opportunities in banking for women.

A December wedding is planned.

Wedding

Schultz—Whisler

The marriage of Miss Donna Lee Whisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Whisler, Gettysburg R. 5, and Kenneth Russell Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Schultz, 620 Fairview Ave., was solemnized Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Luke's Union Church, Whitehall, Pa. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill.

A pack program planning meeting for Cub Pack 160 was held Monday evening at the Sunday School rooms of Christ Lutheran Church. Plans were also made for attendance by the adults associated with the pack at a Cub powwow to be held by the York-Adams Boy Scout Council Saturday at Dover and for Cubmaster Russell Schwartz to attend a training session for Cubmasters at Camp Tuckahoe this evening. Plans were made for a meeting of all parents of Cubs October 22 at 8 p.m. at Christ Lutheran Church.

The executive board of Delone Catholic High School's Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday evening in the faculty lounge at 8 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane, Mrs. Leo McDermitt and Mrs. G. Henry Roth will represent the local church on the board this year.

The regular PTA meeting for October will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the school.

Refreshments will be served. All parents of Delone pupils are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black, 262 E. Middle St., have returned from Maywood, Ill., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Fisher, and daughter, Susan. They also visited friends in Franklin Grove and Machusa, Ill.

The couple is residing at Gettysburg R. 5.

A graduate of Littlestown High School, the bride is employed at the Dutch Cupboard. The bridegroom attended Gettysburg High School and was recently discharged from the U. S. Navy after serving for four years.

Mr. Robert L. Sachs of Otis Air Force Base, Mass., spent several days recently at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther L. Sachs, 34 Locust Lane.

Burglars May Have Taken Nothing

Burglars who broke into the Blue Ridge Oil Company's plant near Two Taverns during the night may have stolen nothing.

State police said attendants at the bulk station and service station along the Littlestown-Gettysburg Rd. could find nothing missing after finding evidence, when they came to work this morning, that someone had been in the building during the night.

An inventory was being taken. Police said the intruder broke the glass of a rear door window and apparently entered the building, but candy machines, tires, batteries, etc., stored in the building appeared undisturbed.

Navy Patrol Plane Missing Off Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Navy submarine-hunter Neptune patrol plane was missing in south Florida waters today. Ten crewmen from the Brunswick, Maine, Naval Air Station were aboard.

It is declared missing but not necessarily lost, said Cmdr. Daniel DeGroft, administrative officer at Brunswick.

The plane made its last radio contact with the Key West base at 3:30 p.m. Monday after taking off at noon on a flight to check instruments.

Cmdr. James F. Rumford, operations officer, said the plane "just disappeared."

SERVICES FOR INFANT

Graveside services for Martin Leonard DeGroft, stillborn son of Melvin L. and Thelma (Thoman) DeGroft, Littlestown R. 1, were conducted on Monday afternoon in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Littlestown. The Rev. Glenn Flinchbaugh, pastor of Redeemer's United Church of Christ, Littlestown, officiated. Arrangements were in charge of Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown.

The infant was born on Monday morning in the Warner Hospital. Surviving in addition to the parents are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph N. Thoman and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. DeGroft, all of Littlestown R. 1.

CAR IS STOLEN

Littlestown police this morning asked state police to search for the car of Richard L. Ingram, 316 E. King St., Littlestown. The auto, a 1950 Chevrolet, was stolen from a parked position in front of Ingram's home during the night. Police said the keys had been left in the car.

METHODISTS TO SERVE DINNER THIS EVENING

Probably the biggest attraction in the open house tour of the new facilities at the Gettysburg Methodist Church Monday night was the new kitchen.

Situated in the basement of the education building addition to the church, the new and modern food preparation center, which replaces the rather cramped kitchen quarters in the old building basement, caught the eye of most of the visitors.

Ample floor and counter space, the latter plastic-topped, two double-bowl sinks and a large size range promise ease of operation for the ladies who do the kitchen work for the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gettys, Mechanicsburg, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Biglerville. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gardner, Dixon, Ill., are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Myers. Mr. Gardner is a cousin of Mrs. Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Welker, Fairfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Biglerville, made a business trip recently to Hanover.

The Ira E. Lady American Legion Post will hold a special meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Three former ministers of the church are to be the guests of honor.

Open house visitors were conducted on tours of the new building and shown improvements in the old building by members of the Senior Youth Fellowship.

In addition to the new rooms added by the building addition, changes, including complete redecoration, were accomplished in the sanctuary and other parts of the old building.

The space formerly occupied by the kitchen has become a part of a new fellowship hall. A choir lounge has been provided. Other improvements include wide use of asphalt tile floors and acoustical tile ceilings.

In the sanctuary the organ pipes have been painted white and deep green drapes have been added as a background to the altar.

PERCY S. MILLER BURIED TODAY

Largely attended funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home for Percy S. Miller, 59, who died last Friday night at the Warner Hospital, five days after suffering a stroke. Mr. Miller had been a bookkeeper for 41 years at the Gettysburg Furniture companies and was active in church, community and fraternal organizations.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, and the assistant pastor, the Rev. John S. Bishop. Interment was made in Evergreen Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Gordon Webster, Jacob Bream, John E. Stahle, Donald Hammers, James Mumper and William H. Pensyl.

More than 500 persons, representing all of the organizations of which Mr. Miller was a member, attended the viewing Monday evening at the funeral home.

STOCKS PUSH STILL HIGHER

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed further into record high ground early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Most leading stocks rose fractions to about a point. A few wider moves were made by specially listed issues.

Drugs and most tobaccos were up. Steels, motors and rails resumed their advance. Aircrafts, chemicals and some nonferrous metals were on the upside. Utilities were a bit higher.

Expectations of an early settlement of Chrysler's labor dispute, rising steel output and declining unemployment were encouraging factors. The market seemed to ignore tightening interest rates which usually are a dampening factor.

Atlantic Coast Line rose more than three and Seaboard Air Line Railroad was up well beyond a point.

BURY IDA HESS

Funeral services for Ida McIntire Hess, 59, a native of Heidersburg who died suddenly last Saturday morning in Cumberland Twp., were held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Pittman Funeral Home in York Springs with the Rev. Arbe Dorsey, pastor of the UB Church in Heidersburg, officiating. Interment was made in the Pines Cemetery. The pallbearers were Aaron Petrow, James Starry, Russell Gardner, and Robert Kennedy.

BAILED FOR COURT

Beartrice Geedy, Shippensburg, who was arrested by Shippensburg police on charges filed by Josephine DeCosmo, part-owner of Rock Top Inn, pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and was fined $10 and costs but was held for court under $500 bail on the assault and battery charge before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehor Monday evening. She was committed to jail in default of the $10 fine and $500 bail. After spending the night in jail she was released upon posting the fine and bail.

BABY IS INJURED

Roman Louise Toner, 2, Mt. Holly Springs R. D. was injured Sunday when she fell out of a car on the Harrisburg Pike a mile east of Carlisle.

She was admitted to Carlisle Hospital with lacerations of the scalp, forehead, and chin and abrasions of the legs.

State police reported she was riding in a car operated by Mrs. Shirley Peck, Gardner's R. 1. She fell from the car as Mrs. Peck was turning into a driveway at an ice cream stand.

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll for 1958, the National Safety Council said today, may be 2,000 less than last year and the lowest since 1954.

But, the council warned, that goal could be reached only if the same rate of improvement in cutting the traffic toll is maintained in the last quarter of the year.

The council said there were 22,880 deaths on the highways in the first eight months this year, 6 percent below the same period last year and representing a saving of 1,560 lives.

The 36,500 traffic death toll would be the lowest since 1954 when the total was 35,536. The record toll was 39,000 in 1941.

Boy Scout Troop 284, of Emmitsburg, held a campfire and court of honor ceremony at Stouts Meadow on Sunday afternoon with approximately 80 parents and friends in attendance. The program was filled with songs and skits followed by the presentation of awards.

Totin chip awards were presented to Explorers Robert Rosensteel, Larry Orndorff, Bill Zimmerman and Danny Gerrie and to Scouts Ed Orndorff, Ronald Stouter, Donald Byard, Pat Ott, Gene Lingg, Tom Humerick, Jim Topper, Carlos Englar III, Albert Bell, Billy Wivell, Dennis Martin, Jackie Dillon, Joe Eckenrode, George Brown, Bob Zimmerman, Mike Cullison, Dick Cullison, Dennis Boyle, Ed Baker, Jeff Zurgable and Harry Harner.

Junior camp staff training patches were presented to Harry Harner, Bobby Zimmerman, James Topper and Jerry Rightnour.

Perfect attendance pins were given Scout Eugene Lingg and Explorer Robert Rosensteel. Both boys have two-year records of perfect attendance.

Service pins for full years in Scouts were given Explorers Robert Wagerman, Larry Orndorff, Robert Rosensteel, Terry Byard and Jerry Rightnour, one year, and Jeff Fitzgerald, two years.

Two-year Scout pins went to Danny Gerrie, Ronald Stouter, Gene Lingg, Tom Humerick and James Topper.

One-year Scout pins were awarded to Wayne Hawk, Carlos Englar, Billy Wivell, Donald Byard, Bill Zimmerman, George Brown, Bob Zimmerman and Dennis Boyle.

Get Church Award

The Catholic religious award was given Explorer Jerry Rightnour. This award is earned through church service.

Explorers Jeff Fitzgerald and Jerry Rightnour were promoted to junior assistant Scoutmaster and will assist in the leadership of the troop.

The Troop Swimming Team was given recognition for a fine season. Members of the team are: Captain Bill Zimmerman, Dennis Martin, Bob Zimmerman, Tom Humerick, Don Marshall, Don Byard, Ronald Stouter, Danny Gerrie and Jimmy Topper.

Merit Badges were presented to Scouts Harry Harner for scholarship, cooking, basketry, safety, wood carving, public speaking and home repairs; Jeff Zurgable, scholarship; Ronald Stouter, scholarship; Gene Lingg, scholarship; Jimmy Topper, scholarship, and James Grinder, some repairs, and to Explorers Jerry Rightnour, camping, pioneering and soil and water conservation; Robert Rosensteel, first aid and public speaking, and Robert Wagerman, camping, soil and water conservation, and cooking.

Patches were given the following Scouts and Explorers for attending the Francis Scott District Camporee last weekend: Explorers Jerry Rightnour, Robert Wagerman, Fred Hawk, Robert Rosensteel and Bill Zimmerman, Scouts Ed Orndorff, Ronald Stouter, Don Byard, Gene Lingg, Tom Humerick, Jimmy Topper, Donald Shorb, Guy Ohler, Wayne Hawk, Carlos Englar III, James Grinder, Albert Bell, Bill Wivell, Dennis Martin, Jackie Dillon, Joe Eckenrode, George Brown, Bo Zimmerman, Mike Cullison, John Wagerman, Paul Humerick, Dennis Stahley, Dick Cullison, Larry Little, Dennis Boyle, Ed Baker, Jeff Zurgable, Harry Harner, Don Marshall and Ned Remeravage.

Two Explorers were recognized for being inducted into the Order of the Arrow, a society of campers who have served to fellow campers as their main objective. These are Jerry Rightnour and James Fitzgerald.

Following the awards ceremony all Scouts were entered into the Order of Good Campers and were marked on the right shoulder with the ashes of the campfires from 1955 until the present. These ashes are to bring alive all the good times spent under the stars and used each year at the summer court of honor.

The campfire was brought to a close by Troop Bugler James Topper playing Taps and the Scoutmaster's Benediction. Refreshments were served.

onions, making dough, pie crusts and cake and cookie batter . . . roasting meat, baking bread, setting up their food trays and scores of other miscellaneous chores in preparation for the initial session tonight.

In many instances duplicate dishes are prepared and cooked in the morning and afternoon prior to an evening session. This is done so that the finished product can be displayed to the homemakers while the lecturer is actually duplicating the dish on the stage, explaining each move as the preparation continues.

"It is impossible for us to prepare and cook the many items we display during our one and one-half hour session each evening. Hence, we must show the finished product, which was made earlier, as we progress with our preparations," Miss Chapman explained.

"For instance we do not, as a rule, ice or frost a cake as soon as it is removed from the oven, hence we bake a cake in the afternoon, bake another in the evening (sometimes prepare two in advance) and when we are ready to ice or frost the finished product we use the one we baked earlier in the day," she added.

One of the features of this year's school will be the use of a large revolving mirror which will reflect the finished product to every person in the large auditorium.

Another task assigned the two young women is the matter of transporting equipment. Three sets are maintained to avoid any delay in transportation. The revolving "mirror" weighs 200 pounds and 400 additional pounds are carried by the economists for each school. Each kitchen is a fully equipped workshop. It contains, pots, pans, knives, forks, spoons, cups, plates, saucers, etc. The Pyrex dishes used at each session are given away with the prepared food. 164 pieces of Pyrex are carried.

The young women must unpack and setup all their own equipment for each session. At its close they must repack the more than 600 pounds, plus more than 100 additional pounds of personal effects and see that all is shipped at the earliest moment to the next school. For instance the young ladies came here from Lynn, Mass. From there they go to Muskegon, Mich., thence to Dodge City, Iowa, etc.

New pieces are used every year. They are not allowed to repeat a recipe within five years. That is why the young ladies spend two months each summer preparing recipes and favored dishes for their future schools. Each dish must be approved by a special board of economists before it can be used.

Those planning to attend this year's school are assured of three very pleasant, entertaining, practical and useful programs.

More than $5,000 worth of prizes will be awarded.

COLLEGE PLANS

It is expected that from 60 to 70 secondary school teachers will be selected for these courses on the basis of professional competence and capacity to develop as teachers. Three credits for each course will be given by Saint Joseph College, the president has announced. These credits are applicable toward a Bachelor's degree or for renewal of certificates in teaching.

Model Classes

The model classes for the first course will be composed of average and above average students from Saint Dominic's School, Baltimore. Lesson plans prepared for the demonstrations by the critic teachers staffing the institute will be compiled at the close of the courses with publication in view.

The importance of this project is three-fold, according to Sister Hilda. It will improve preparation of pres-ous share of the products of her pen.

First Novel In 1915

Her first novel, "Katy Gaumer," was published by Houghton, Mifflin Company in 1915 and there followed at varying intervals a dozen or more of her major works, probably highlighted by "Rifles for Washington" in 1938 and "I Speak for Thaddeus Stevens" in 1947. The book, "Rifles for Washington," was the story of an Adams County company in the American Revolution while her biography of Stevens was one of the kindest and most understanding stories of his life, which was analyzed by a number of biographers. Stevens, a former Gettysburg lawyer and later a Lancaster congressman, was at the same time one of the most admired and most hated middle 19th century figures in national life in Washington after he had played his earlier role as "father of the Pennsylvania free school system."

She was a member of Christ Church and for the greater part of her life took an active part in the work of that congregation.

She was a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority and elected to Beta Kappa membership at Radcliffe.

For more than 40 years Mrs. Lewars has been listed in "Who's Who in America," and was the first Adams County woman ever to achieve that honor. Until her father's death in 1926, her sketch immediately preceded his in the publication.

Distinguished Daughter of Pa.
Her success in the literary field brought many demands upon her for speaking engagements and she appeared before many women's organizations, especially in eastern and central Pennsylvania, to speak or to read some of her popular stories of places and people many could recognize.

She had many affiliations, among them the Harrisburg Civic Club, the American Association of University Women and the Pennsylvania German Society.

In October, 1950, she was honored as a "distinguished daughter of Pennsylvania" during a Pennsylvania Week celebration.

Outstanding Literary Figure

For three decades in the first half of this century, her books were reviewed regularly in metropolitan papers and by book review services as those of one of the outstanding literary figures of that time.

Mrs. Lewars was married April 17, 1912, to Harold Steck Lewars, a musician and professor of English at Gettysburg College. Part of their married life was spent in Harrisburg where he taught music until he died in March, 1915.

Helped Organize Red Cross

After her husband's death Mrs. Lewars returned to Gettysburg and again engaged in community life, especially at the seminary where she for a time played the organ for daily chapel services and at various times gave brief courses in the history of church, all the time continuing her literary career.

Not all of her time was devoted to writing, however, for in World War I days here she was one of the organizers, and first secretary of the Gettysburg, later the Adams County, chapter of the Red Cross. She served as a volunteer here in that work until after the war and then became chapter chairman, a position she held through the depression years and the second world war.

She was assigned the chairmanship in 1946 with a citation of merit from the national Red Cross and words of tribute from community leaders and fellow workers.

Was Library Founder

A proponent of women's suffrage and prohibition, she also had worked for years for a public library in Gettysburg and she was one of the organizers and a member of the first board of directors of the Adams County Free Library Association here in 1944. Later she served as president of the library and after her retirement from active membership on the library board was made an honorary director for lifetime.

She was always a staunch supporter of co-education at Gettysburg College in days when it was controversial.

At various times through the years, she was active in Parent-Teacher organizations here and for many years she was a member of the board of directors of the Gettysburg Civic Nursing Association.

Today's Talk

LOAFING HOURS

I have in my library a book on Whitman, the poet, and it calls him "The Magnificent Idler." The book could just as well have been named "The Magnificent Loafer," for that was exactly what he was — but strictly in a kindly and useful sense.Too many people make the mistake of too little loafing! Loafers may not make much money while on the job of loafing, but they pick up a great many ideas, ideas that just float unwanted in the air about them. Every once in a while, however, some one of these loafers picks out of the air the most promising idea — and off that one goes at rapid pace, hope-ing to catch up with a nice fortune!I wouldn't advocate loafing, however, as one of the rules for gaining success in life. It's just a conditioner — for the one who is acquainted with his own capacity for happiness. Many people enjoy loafing, but if they do not allow it to possess them, they ought to make fine use of carefully selected hours for loafing.Corinne Updegraff Wells a few years back had published a very useful book called "Pack Your Leisure with Profit and Pleasure."
The book teems with ideas and useful suggestions. I note that she estimates that the average person can arrange to have out of all his hours in a year's time, some 2,085 hours of "free time" to do as one might wish with them.Just to sit and think may earn us the title of loafer — but what multitudes have deliberately chosen to enliven life with intelligent loafing! At times it's even exciting. All is not lost in free time as a loafer. I imagine many a masterpiece in art and literature has thus been created. Many a one from a park bench!Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Our Believe-Ins"

THE MODERN WAY

Stayed till 2 a.m. and she Seemed in no haste to part;
And also it was plain that he
Was in no haste to start.Nor did her father give a shout
And ask him then and there
If he should come and put him out —

I guess he didn't care.

She did not whisper, "Darling
John,

I guess you'll have to go;"

And so he simply stayed right on —

The light was turned down low.

Although the hour was very late,

Her father did not swear

Nor tell her to dismiss him straight —

I guess he didn't care.

For years the jesters long have toldHow fathers fumed and fussed,
And often kicked those lovers bold
Straight out into the dust.

But nowadays such scenes as these

Don't happen; I declare;

For lovers do just as they please,

And parents do not care.

YANKEES HAVE
GRAND SLAMSBy FRANK ECK
AP Sports EditorWhen it comes to World Series own or share just about every four bagger record on the books.Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were the big slingers when the ball had very little rabbit in it. Tony Lazzeri, Charley Keller, Gene Woodling and Aaron Ward also hold or share four bagger history in the classic.But the stickout has to be the fact that four of the Yankees playing in this World Series against the Milwaukee Braves own series grand slams.In order of their appearance in

"The Little Red Book Of Major League Baseball" they are Gil
McDonald, Mickey Mantle, Yogi
Berra and Bill Skowron.

Only Six In Series

Only six players have hit series grand slams. The first to hit a series home run with the bases loaded was Elmer Smith of the Cleveland Indians. He did it in the first inning of the fifth game in 1920 against Brooklyn. Burleigh Grimes made the delivery.Lazzeri hit his in the second game against Hal Schumacher and the rookie to connect with the sacks loaded.

He did it in the Polo

Ebbets Field. Oddly, the Dodgers won this game 13-8, after the Yankees held a 5-0 lead. Don Larsen then couldn't hold the lead, yet three days later pitched his perfect game.In the seventh game in 1956,
Casey Stengel replaced Joe Collins

(Times photo)

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Little Soly Hemus has been installed officially as the sixth St. Louis Cardinal manager in eight years and he's indicated there will be a good bit of lineup shuffling.

Hemus, 34-year-old former infielder for the Cards who came here from the Philadelphia Phils., said "The club needs more punch, pitching and greater depth."

General Manager Bing Devine chipped in his agreement that a number of trades would be necessary to restore the Cardinals as a pennant contender. "We've already talked to some clubs, particularly Cincinnati and San Francisco, and Roy Hamey, Philadelphia general manager, and I will definitely get together during the Series," Devine said.

Hemus To Play

Hemus said he himself would be seen on the playing field next year. "I'm in condition to play 100 games. I don't think I'll play that much, though. Don Blasingame (Cardinal second baseman) is one of the finest in the league, but if conditions warrant me pinch-hitting or playing defensively in late innings, I'll go in."

If so, Hemus would be the only playing manager in the majors.

Veteran outfielders Del Ennis and Wally Moon both had the worst season of their careers this year and are expected to be high on the list of Cardinal players up for trade.

The Cards will probably make a bid for hard-hitting rookies Willie Kirkland and Felipe Alou of the Giants.

Part of the coaching shuffle is completed. Harry Walker was brought up from Houston and Johnny Keane, manager of Omaha, was added. One or two more coaches will be named later.

Should it go the full seven, Hemus, the personal choice of Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr., was acquired from Philadelphia in a trade of Gene Freese.

Ford's Condition Doubt

On the other hand, it is certain that Yankee ace Whitey Ford is in the running for the American League's top honor. The 37-year-old left-hander, who has been stretched out in 17 innings in his last three starts, has been stretched out in 17 innings in his last three starts. Those three tuneups, however, were stretched out in 17 innings in his last three starts. He did not come up to par in his first start.

Spahn is Durable

No one knows for sure whether the chunky 29-year-old southpaw can go nine innings in one stretch, let alone three games in nine days. Sidelined two weeks in August with a left elbow, he hasn't gone the distance since Aug. 8, when he was 1-0.

Spahn has pitched all season with three days rest. He has complete games attest to his ability despite his 37 years of experience. He can go at top ability, rest. He stretched his consecutive scoreless inning streak to 24, putting out the Yankees 5-0 with two

Pick Braves To Repeat 1957's Performance And Beat Yanks In Series; Hold Pitching Edge

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — On the assumption that the pitching of lefty Warren Spahn and righty Lew Burdette will neutralize the hitting of Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, the Milwaukee Braves are picked to repeat last year's victory over the New York Yankees in the 1958 World Series starting here Wednesday.

Because the teams are so evenly matched, with the Braves having an edge in pitching and the Yankees in hitting, the Series figures to go the full seven games.

Should it go the full distance, Spahn, who will pitch the opener, and Burdette, slated to start the second game, could conceivably hurl six of the seven games. The pair won four out of five decisions against the Yankees last October.

Ford's Condition Doubtful

On the other hand, it is not certain that Yankee ace Whitey Ford, Manager Casey Stengel's first game selection, will be physically able to pitch three games—the first, fourth and seventh. Despite the ability of right-handers Don Larsen and Bob Turley, probable second and third game pitchers, Ford looms as the key pitcher for the Yankees.

Ford is the American League's earned-run leader and the Yankees' top World Series winner. He has a 5-3 postseason record.

Ford has given up only one run in 17 innings in his last three starts. Those three tuneup efforts, however, were stretched over a month and although he pitched brilliantly, he did not complete any of his starts.

Spahn Is Durable

No one knows for sure whether the chunky 29-year-old blond southpaw can go nine innings at one stretch, let alone three full games in nine days. Sidelined for two weeks in August with a sore left elbow, he hasn't gone the distance since Aug. 8, when he beat Boston 2-0.

Spahn has pitched all season with three days rest. His 23 complete games attest to his durability despite his 37 years. Burdette, with his free and easy style, can go at top ability, rest or no rest. He stretched his consecutive scoreless inning streak to 24, shutting out the Yankees 8-0 with only two days rest in last year's finale.

Turley and Larsen made three starts against the Braves last year, and completed only one game between them. Bob Buhl, who started twice for Milwaukee, and failed to go very far either time, apparently has been shunted in favor of Bob Rush, the big right-hander acquired from the Chicago Cubs last winter.

Mantle Will Help

Rush may pitch the third game if Braves Manager Fred Haney doesn't switch to either rookie Carlton Willey or veteran Ernie Johnson.

Now for the hitting. Mantle's healthy condition is bound to add strength to the Yankee attack. The slugging center fielder was handicapped last fall by a shin splint and shoulder condition.

Berra has had a better year, as have Elston Howard and Andy Carey. In Norm Siebern, their rookie left fielder, the Yankees have a left-handed spray hitter who is apt to prove troublesome to Burdette because he hits to the opposite field.

Braves As Good As '57

On the Yankee debit side, Bill Skowron, Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek don't appear as potent as last year, at bat or in the field.

The Braves are at least as good as they were last year even with left fielder Wes Covington plagued by aching legs. Haney said he would not know whether Covington would be in the opening day lineup but the betting is he'll be in left field with the right-handed Joe Adcock playing first base.

Frank Torre, despite a sore left wrist, will play first base against right-handed pit hing.

Another questionable spot in the Braves' lineup is centerfield. Bill Bruton, the regular in that position, has still not fully recovered from his knee operation last winter.

The rest of the lineup—Red Schoendienst at second, Johnny Logan at short, Henry Aaron in right, Eddie Mathews at third and Del Crandall behind the plate—is all set.

WORLD SERIES 'BREAKS' FULL OF ODDITIES

By FRANK ECK
AP Sports Editor

You can go back to almost any World Series and find that the breaks in one game stand out more than the pitching or hitting. A fan who has the breaks go his way may call it heads up baseball and one whose team loses may call it hard luck.

But to the ballplayer the little events that lead to bigger things are called the breaks.

Something that never happened during the regular season of 154 games occur in a World Series.

Shoe Polish Factor

For example take last year's classic between the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees. The who would believe that shoe polish would have a hand in deciding one of the games? But it did.

The Yankees led in games by 2-1 and seemed ready to put the Braves' backs to the wall. The American League champions led 5-4 in runs and needed only three out to take a 3-1 lead in games.

But manager Fred Haney sent Nippy Jones, a journeyman ball player, up to the plate for Warren Spahn to lead off the bottom of the tenth inning.

Tommy Byrne's first pitch was an errant curve ball that made Jones skip rope. But Nippy never did get his right foot out of the way. He started for first base. He knew he was hit. He felt it. But Umpire Augie Donatelli called him back. Said the pitch was ball. Said it didn't hit him.

When Jones, irked no end by Donatelli's original call, saw the ball rolling back toward the plate, Nippy made a perfect grab for the ball before the ballboy got it. He showed the ball to Donatelli and the umpire changed his decision.

Here were three breaks rolled into one. Fortunate Jones failed to dodge the pitch entirely, the ball hit the stands 50 feet from home and bounded back, and the umpire changed his decision.

The unique happening upset the Yankees. Casey Stengel immediately replaced Byrne with Bob Grim.

Felix Mantilla ran for the slow-footed Jones, was advanced to second on a bunt and eventually scored on Johnny Logan's double to tie the game.

With first base open, Stengel decided to have Grim pitch to Ed Mathews. The southpaw slugger bashed Grim's fifth pitch out of the park and the Braves won, 7-5, to tie the series at two games each.

Burdette Got Chance

Another break came that enabled Lew Burdette to try for his third victory in the series. Spahn came up with the flu bug and had to beg off starting the final game. Burdette, with only two days rest, was equal to the task and became the hero of the series.

In 1946, Johnny Pesky of the Boston Red Sox held a relay from the outfield only for a few seconds while Enos Slaughter dashed around the bases in the eighth inning of the seventh game. It proved to be the run that decided the series.

In 1955, Dodger pilot Walter Alston put Sam Amorus in left field in Yankee Stadium for the last half of the sixth inning. It was in that frame that Amorus made a sensational one-handed catch to save the final game and the series for the Dodgers. Amorus could get to the ball only with his gloved right hand. The previous left fielder, Junior Gilliam, couldn't have made the catch, it was agreed, because he wears the glove on his left hand.

Other Oddities

Some will talk about Hugh Casey's wild pitch that had Tommy Henrich struck out in 1941, about Ernie Lombardi's trance-like pose at home plate in 1939, or about Bucky Harris' bad bounce single that decided the 1924 classic.

To make Brenner's cup of tea sweeter, Torres, 22-year-old graduate of the Olympics, stopped veteran Ottie Woodard in the fifth round of the ten rounder to the thunderous cheers of the Puerto Rican fans. That made Jose's record 6-0, including four kayos.

BAN ON NIGHT FOOTBALL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Chester (Pa.) High School will meet Atlantic City High Saturday afternoon because of a ban on night football games here.

It's more than just a platoon plan that may move Casey to bench Berra for the opener, however. Howard was the American League champs' leading hitter for the season with a .314 average.

Berra, the squat swatter who holds the series record for games played with 54, has started 47 consecutive games for the Yankees in seven series since 1947. Now, with Manager Casey Stengel ever mindful of the platoon power, Berra may sit out Wednesday's opener against the Milwaukee Braves in favor of Elston Howard.

Neither Stengel nor Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney has announced a lineup for the opener, but the right-handed hitting Howard could get the nod over Yogi, a lefty, against southpaw Warren Spahn, the Braves' pitching choice.

More Than Platoon

Merle Gorman, a midshipman at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, has been selected as a member of the varsity soccer squad at Navy.

Gorman graduated from Gettysburg High School where he was a member of the varsity football, basketball and track squads.

The last game Yogi missed in the series was the second game of the 1949 classic, which the Yankees won in five games against Brooklyn.

Berra, 33, has played the outfield for the Yankees this season, and also has dabbled at first base. The first base job, for the opener anyway, belongs to Bill Skowron. Since Casey has to play a left-handed batter in the outfield, the odds say he has to go with Norm Siebern.

Siebern has been so impressive against left-handed pitchers — against the book — Stengel has even used him as a pinch-hitter against southpaws this season.

AN IMPROVED FUEL, and in many instances a foreign vacuum pump — Fuel pumps for years have been the source of much engine stalling trouble, especially in hot weather or at high altitudes when an air lock often occurs. Considerable improvement in fuel pumps has been made in recent years, which is all to the good. In the days of the vacuum tank, motorists often found it a real headache to get gas to the carburetor, especially when climbing long grades.

Made In Argentina
Kaiser and Willys cars are now being manufactured in Argentina through an arrangement first started by the Peron regime and continued under the present government. It is difficult to send a U.S. make, completely assembled in the United States, to Argentina and many other foreign countries.

This is, however, no restriction against the importation of cars into the United States, and any quantity can come into our country without government interference or permits. This same situation applies to motorcycles.

While thousands of imported motorcycles are sold in the United States each year without any import restriction, the American-made Harley-Davidson can not be exported in any quantities to most other countries — and in certain countries none at all can be exported.

English Cycles Here

England sends thousands of motorcycles annually to the U.S. and yet for many years past no Harley-Davidsons could be sold in England. A few months ago the British Government relaxed its import restrictions to the extent that 50 (yes, 50) U.S.-built Harley-Davidsons have been permitted to be exported to Great Britain for sale there this year.

NEWSPAPER WK. IS OBSERVED

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — National Newspaper Week, which officially starts Wednesday, was launched Monday night at an open house in the $300,000 addition of the New Castle News. Pennsylvania newspaper executives were among 200 persons who attended.

In a brief ceremony, a bronze plaque was presented to Newell and Fred Rentz.

The presentation was made by David W. Turner, publisher of the Towanda Review and president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Assn. It marked selection of the News as the representative of hometown dailies in the Eastern United States.

In a brief acceptance talk, Richard Rentz stressed the importance of the newspaper function "to serve the people." He said that in doing this newspapers make a major contribution to freedom.

The 1959 line of Rambler Six and Rebel V-8 models, which features new exterior and interior styling, engineering changes to further increase economy of operation and durability, will go on sale at Rambler dealerships across the nation on October 8. Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, the compact Rambler provides generous interior room for six passengers, even though the car is more than 1 1/2 feet shorter than other low-priced cars. The Rambler, therefore, is easier to park and maneuver in traffic. Shown is the Rambler Custom.

NEW RAMBLER AUTOMOBILES ARE PRESENTED

American Motors today introduced its new 1959 Rambler which features new exterior and interior styling, and engineering changes designed to further increase Rambler economy of operation and durability.

The 108-inch-wheelbase Rambler Six and Rambler Rebel V-8 models will go on sale at the Hunt Ave., Inc., on October 8, according to Roy Abernethy, vice president of automotive distribution and marketing. The company's Ambassador V-8 and Rambler American models, which will be announced later, also will be placed on sale October 8.

Sets Sales Record

Rambler sales set a new all-time record in 1958 because of the great public swing to the concept of compactness, economy and maneuverability," Abernethy said. "We anticipate even further production and sales gains in 1959 since more and more motorists each year are becoming aware of the Rambler concept of motoring."

Eleven models, including station wagons, hardtops and sedans, will be offered in the Six and V-8 series. All are four-door models. Fifteen single-tone and 18 two-tone color combinations, including many metallic finishes, are available. All paints are of the new super-enamel type, developed to provide a harder surface finish that is more resistant to dulling, chalking and marrying. On custom station wagons, a new driftwood gray wood-grain trim also is offered.

A missile-like spear which runs the full length of the car highlights the side styling treatment. The upper portion of the gently flared tail fins flows forward smoothly into the center of the car.

MOTOR MAIDS How To Cut Accidents 50%

By JEANNE SMITH
Dodge Safety Consultant

Here's another project for women's organizations interested in promoting traffic safety in their community or state.

The President's Committee for Traffic Safety has termed improvement of driver licensing standards as a prime target for action by women.

Miss Smith

Women's groups have been urged to campaign for the following program: driver education courses as a prerequisite to licensing; more rigid physical examinations, driving tests and psychological tests to determine basic judgment and attitude; use of suspension and revocation authority by motor vehicle administrators so that repeat violators will be taken off the highway, and an adequate number of personnel to administer examinations and driver improvement courses.

Many Unfit To Drive

About one-third of all licensed drivers have no business behind the wheel of a car, according to Paul Mason, president of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

"For instance," he says, "we license drivers who don't know how to react in an emergency. We don't weed out completely the 1-

THE DRIVER'S SEAT How To Cut Accidents 50%

By JEANNE SMITH
Dodge Safety Consultant

The glove compartment of your automobile can be a miniature version of Fibber McGee's closet or a well-kept travelling chest of useful driving aids.

Frustated fumbling or lack of the right item when you need it most is eliminated by putting together a kit exactly suited for your convenience in the driver's seat.

Your basic glove compartment kit should include:

A large flashlight, with fresh batteries and a spare. (Miniature, one-cell flashlights burn out too easily and don't provide enough light.)

A map case. (Maps should not be shoved behind sun visors, as they fall out too easily, sometimes causing accidents.)

First Aid Materials

A small box containing first aid materials.

A leather or plastic folder that hold pencil and pad of paper.

Sunglasses and case.

Strip of white or yellow cloth about four inches by one-half one-half feet long. (Tied to the driver's 500,000 people subject to epileptic seizures, the 2,500,000 with diabetes or the eight per cent of the population with heart disease. We even grant licenses to people who can't read road signs!

"Public apathy and shortsighted legislation," claims Mason, "have not permitted state motor vehicle administrators to match examination techniques with today's complexities of driving.

"I could almost guarantee a 50 per cent reduction in traffic accidents if the public would give us approval to get as tough as we should be in issuing driving licenses."

For instance," he says, "we license drivers who don't know how to react in an emergency. We don't weed out completely the 1-

side door handle if your car breaks down, the cloth will bring help. You won't have to step out of the car on a busy highway.)

This basic kit can be modified or expanded to suit special needs.

Small Tool Kit

Men may want to add a small tool kit containing an interchangeable screwdriver and wrench set. Businessmen or salesmen who do a great deal of cross-country driving will want to have state maps covering their territory, as well as more detailed maps of large cities they visit. Drivers who stick mostly to the city should have a detail map plus a list of reliable garages they can call in case of serious mechanical trouble.

A small booklet to keep track of auto expenses and as a reminder for grease jobs, oil and oil filter changes, new points and spark plugs is a very useful addition to any driver's kit.

Make-up Kit

Women may want to have a small make-up kit with powder, lip stick, comb and mascara. Placed in a small box, these items will be at fingertip reach and can never spill messily over the glove compartment.

Families going on vacation with children may want to fit a deck of cards, a pocket chess and checker set or other portable games into their driving kit.

It's more fun to drive when you can reach confidently into the glove compartment for sunglasses without encountering what seems like the faucet to the kitchen sink.

Gin Rummy doesn't get its name from the two drinks indicated. The "Rum" comes from the ancient game of "Rummy." The "Gin" comes from the old English word of "engine" which means a "trick of opening."

It's more fun to drive when you can reach confidently into the glove compartment for sunglasses without encountering what seems like the faucet to the kitchen sink.

Claim Nationalists Use U.S. Sidewinders To Down Enemy

By NATE POLOWETZKY

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claimed today the Nationalist Chinese were using U.S. Sidewinder guided missiles to shoot down its fighting planes.

Peiping charged this was "a premeditated step in the U.S. plan of a war of aggression," and threatened "punitive blows on Chiang Kai-shek's air force for this criminal action."

An article in the People's Daily, voice of the Communist regime, declared the use of the guided missile "is a military provocation of the utmost gravity."

First In History

"This is the first time in the annals of war throughout the world that guided missiles have been employed," the article declared.

"U.S. imperialism has now confronted mankind with the danger of guided-missile and nuclear warfare."

The Sidewinder, a U.S. Navy-developed missile named for a desert rattlesnake, finds and destroys target by homing on a source of heat—the jet engine in the case of an airplane. It has a warhead of conventional explosives and a speed greater than sound. It can follow its target despite evasive turns and twists.

Standard Equipment

The weapon has been standard equipment in the U.S. 7th Fleet in Formosa Strait for two years and has been produced in thousands for the U.S. Air Force.

In Washington, the Pentagon would not say yes or no as to whether the Communist claim was true.

The Peiping broadcast came after reports had circulated in Taipei, the Formosa capital, that the Nationalist air force was equipped with the air-to-air Sidewinders.

Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, Nationalist military spokesman in Taipei, denied the reports.

Nationalist air force officials have claimed, however, that 29 Red Chinese MIG fighters have been shot down in combat without the loss of a single Nationalist fighter.

SAY OFFICER GOT $13,000 FOR PATENTS

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Dayton, Ohio, electrical firm carried on its books as a regular business expenses $13,000 paid to an Air Force officer for two patents it purchased from him.

This testimony was developed yesterday at the trial of two Air Force officers and the president of Royal Electric, Inc., who are accused of conspiring to defraud the federal government.

The trial is in its second week in U.S. District Court here.

Accused are Colonels Ralph O. Brownfield and Charles F. Burley, and Robert F. McNett, Royal president. The charges alleges the three conspired to award Air Force contracts to Royal while the two officers were attached to Olmsted Air Force Base near Harrisburg, Pa.

Called Regular Transaction

Quentin C. Roche, former controller for Royal, told the court that Brownfield received $13,000 for two patents he developed.

Roche said six checks for the total were made from the Royal firm's regular and special accounts and that each check was entered in company books as a regular business transaction.

In testimony last week, witnesses said one of the patients was for a pump design. Federal attorneys attempted to prove that the design was worthless and was purchased only to gain favor with Brownfield. Defense attorneys contended that the pump design had value.

PENECALE WINS ON BIRDIE THREE

YORK, Pa. (AP) — A birdie three on the first hole in a sudden-death playoff broke a three-way tie and gave Sam Penecale of Chestnut Hill the title in the second annual York Open golf tournament Monday.

Penecale received first prize of $350 and possession of the York Gazette and Daily Trophy.

Penecale's 12-foot putt for the birdie in the playoff beat out Don Stough, York, and George Fazio, Pine Valley, N. J. All three ended the regulation 18 holes with four-under-par 67s.

A total of 103 amateurs and pros competed in the medal play test. Stan Dudas of North Hills, Pa., finished fourth with a 68. Tied at 69 were Jack Helms, York; Skee Riegel, Villanova; Ansel Snow of Keweenaw, Pa., and Sam Coccodrilli, Reading. The latter was low amateur in the field.

Defending champ Dick Sleichter, Gettysburg, finished in a three-way tie for ninth with 70 with Jerry Pisano and Bernie Haas, both of Philadelphia.

MOSCOW (AP) — Klementi Y. Voroshilov, president of the Soviet Union, flew to Tashkent Monday en route to an official visit at Afghanistan.

"TIGHT MONEY" ACTION LIKELY BY UNCLE SAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of another "tight money" action by the Federal Reserve Board was increased today by a sharp rise in the interest Uncle Sam pays on short-term borrowings.

The Treasury announced Monday night the government will pay an average interest rate of 2.920 per cent for the privilege of borrowing $1,800,000,000 for three months.

This marked an unusually steep rise over the 2.511 per cent which lenders demanded a week ago. Historically it's a pretty high rate to charge the nation's best credit risk for short-term money. It means all other borrowers, including blue chip corporations, are paying a good deal more.

Greater Spread Now

The increase also means the interest rate on 90-day Treasury bills is now far out of line with the Federal Reserve Board's 2 per cent discount rate—the interest rate banks must pay for money borrowed from the reserve system.

In recent years, the discount rate invariably has been raised in circumstances such as these. The reserve board normally tries to keep the discount rate above the bill rate. This is to discourage banks from borrowing from the Federal Reserve and reinvesting in Treasury bills.

The current spread between the bill rate and the lower discount rate is greater than at any time in the past five years.

Many Areas Report More Employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in two years, the number of the nation's major job areas reporting improved employment outnumber those showing increases in joblessness.

The Labor Department announced this Monday in reporting that the job picture improved during the late summer in all but a few of the nation's chief labor and production centers.

Surveys showed four-fifths of 149 major labor market areas reported a drop in unemployment. Most of the declines were relatively small.

The improved job situation was attributed to pickups in the durable goods industries such as steel and machinery manufacturing and to continued seasonal expansion in other industries.

7 Admit Violation; There Wasn't Any

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A traffic policeman lined up eight motorists and started writing tickets for failure to heed a stop sign.

Seven accepted the tickets, saying they hadn't seen the sign. The eighth said, "Show me the stop sign and I'll accept the ticket."

"So you can't see a big red sign officer. "Come on."

They walked back to the intersection, but there was no stop sign.

"Somebody must have stolen it," said the red-faced officer as he tore up the tickets.

Harry Craft Will Manage A's In '59

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry Craft, who led the Kansas City Athletics to their best season since 1952, will manage the team again next year.

Arnold Johnson, owner of the A's, said Monday that Craft had signed a one-year contract at a substantial salary increase. He didn't say how much Craft would be paid.

Under Craft, the Athletics finished seventh in the American League, just as they did in 1957. But this year's team had a 73-81 record, a vast improvement over the 59-94 record of last year.

Temple Will Play 25-Game Schedule

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Temple University's championship basketball team will play a 25 game schedule this season.

The university's athletic director, Josh Cody, announced Monday the team will play four schools not on last year's schedule. The four are Princeton, Rutgers, Connecticut and Navy.

The Temple team, fifth ranked nationally at the end of the last season, won the NCAA Eastern Basketball Championship.

NO RAIN EXPECTED

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Crisp fall temperatures and a few dull clouds are expected Wednesday for the opening game of the 1958 World Series.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said it does not expect any precipitation.

Early morning temperatures will be about 40, but will climb to the low 60s by game time.

Presidio Valley Is Facing Wild Floods

PRESIDIO, Tex. (AP) — A muddy crest, loaded with debris from its rampage through the Presidio Valley, swept down the Rio Grande today toward populous border points to the south and east.

But at Presidio, Border Patrol Inspector Raymond Morris said he feared the 20-foot flood at this southwest Texas city of 1,000 was just a beginning.

More floodwaters from the Rio Conchos, which flows from Mexico into the Rio Grande, and from the El Paso area at the western tip of Texas were still expected.

The flood, which started Sunday, engulfed farms and homes.

World Briefs

LONDON (AP) — A Russian radio commentator today predicted a worldwide television hookup by means of Sputnik transmitting stations.

The Sputniks would have to be motionless in relation to the earth but this could be achieved if they made one revolution of the globe every 24 hours.

Nikolai Potisayev said a satellite 21,000 miles out in space would view nearly a third of the earth's surface. Three such satellites at equal distances would cover the whole world.

TAIPEI (AP) — Vice Adm. Frederick N. Kivette took command of the U. S. 7th Fleet today. The fleet guards Formosa Strait.

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — An American university dean who thinks many children are over-protected says they can be toughened against mental illness if they are exposed to emotional experiences when they are young.

Dr. Edward G. McGavran of the University of North Carolina's Public Health School, told the Ontario Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting that shielding children from emotional strains is resulting in a population susceptible to mental illness when it is exposed to shocks later in life.

McGavran said controlled emotional shocks might help the now-coddled children.

BERLIN (AP) — Helene Cane Helen hustled out to sea and away from Newfoundland Monday night after visiting Cape Breton Island with 90-mile-an-hour winds. The Weather Office said Helene was gradually losing her punch. It appeared Newfoundland would escape virtually unscathed.

Cape Breton residents were assessing damage expected to reach hundreds of thousands of dollars but there were no deaths.

2,000 Children On Quemoy Islands Live In Caves And Face Influenza And Smallpox

QUEMOY (AP) — More than 2,000 children on Quemoy and Lien-tze Quemoy are living in caves and underground shelters as winter approaches with threats of influenza, smallpox and exposure.

"Our greatest fear is an influenza epidemic," said Dr. Lin Chin Chiang, head of the Quemoy medical center for civilians. "Children and aged people are living in caves and underground shelters that will be damp and cold this winter.

"They need blankets, clothing and some safe way to heat their shelters. Even if the Communists stop their artillery attacks, many hundreds will have no surface homes."

All Live Underground

Earlier, the civilian administrator of Little Quemoy said all of that island's 5,700 civilians, including 1,500 children, are living underground. Food is running low and virtually no medical supplies are available.

(The State Department announced in Washington last Friday that $180,000 in civilian relief supplies are being shipped to the Quemoyans. The supplies will include shelters, temporary housing, medical supplies and emergency stockpiling of food.)

Four villages on Quemoy are 85 per cent rubble from Communist shells.

I visited Na Shan village, one of the hardest hit, Monday. Out of some 120 homes, I counted 93 demolished. I saw only five homes that had escaped direct shell hits.

Others had one livable room or a roof supported by fragments of walls. Some families had been living in underground shelters since Aug. 23, the day Communist guns began pounding the Quemoyans.

Believes 'Happy Pills' Should Not Be Eaten Like Popcorn

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If the happy pill boom keeps on at its present rate, women will be too relaxed to fall in love and men will be too tranquil to care.

This is the horrifying prediction of two bright young men who have declared war on the modern philosophy that there's a pill for everything.

They are Harry Middleton and Warren Kiefer, authors of the just published novel "Pax," a highly entertaining slap at the mushrooming drug business in America. They write under the byline "Middleton Kiefer."

"Need To Get Mad"

Middleton and Kiefer were employees in the public relations department of one of the country's largest wholesale drug companies when they decided to quit and write a book about Americans swallowing tranquilizer pills at the rate of a billion and a quarter a year.

"I just don't think everybody should get that relaxed," says Middleton. "You need to get mad or worried or tense once in a while, or you'll never do anything. Most of the great things accomplished in the world have been done by people who were blazing mad about something."

"This thing is really getting out of bounds," says Kiefer. "People take tranquilizer pills to keep them calm during the day, sleeping pills to put them to sleep at night and pep pills to wake them up in the morning."

All-purpose Capsule

"Now I hear they have an all-purpose capsule which releases various pills on schedule, over a 24-hour period. There are tranquilizers for part of the day, pep pills for other periods, sleeping pills and built-in alarms—pills to wake you up. This, I feel, is going too far. A man shouldn't surrender every reaction of life to a pill."

The authors are quick to concede that tranquilizer pills are important and effective in the treatment of many ills, when taken under careful medical supervision.

But they feel these drugs shouldn't be eaten like popcorn.

NORFOLK TENSE AS SIX SCHOOLS ARE SHUT DOWN

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Restless students, police patrols, canceled football games and closed door emergency sessions of city and state officials marked a tense beginning to the closing of six Norfolk schools.

The six, three senior high and three junior high facilities with an enrollment of 16,000, were ordered shut down by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. while he considers possible ways of restoring their operation on a segregated basis.

Almond acted within the authority of the state's massive resistance to racial integration statutes. The showdown came after the City School Board enrolled 17 Negro children in compliance with a federal court order.

No major disturbances were reported. Police kept students from gathering on Granby High School grounds during the afternoon.

City fathers, school trustees and legislators representing the city huddled for 90 minutes behind closed doors. They broke up without comment.

Later, after a separate 45-minute meeting of the School Board, School Supt. J. J. Brewbaker served notice the three senior high schools had suspended fall football programs indefinitely.

He said it would be up to Almond to resume the suspended activities.

Nighttime classes for adults in the three high school buildings also were terminated.

SAYS DULLES IS "ENCOURAGED"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles was reported a bit encouraged today over prospects of reaching a Formosa settlement but still concerned about continuing criticism of his policies in the crisis.

He faces questioning about the prospects at a news conference.

The chief encouraging note was Premier Chou En-lai's statement Sunday that the Red Chinese "do not give up their efforts to find

"Foods With A Flair": Universal Favorite — Steak

A menu built around ever-popular sirloin steak is not only one of the easiest meals to prepare, but also one of the best liked!

Companions for this favored broiled meat should be uncomplicated. A large, crisp tossed salad topped with your special dressing plus tiny parsley-buttered potatoes are perfect partners. Add an easy dessert and, within minutes dinner is ready!

For larger families this sirloin steak is an excellent choice Porterhouse and T-bone steaks. If cut thick, will generally serve 3 to 4 persons; while club steaks may be counted upon to make 1 to 2 servings each.

Broiling is undoubtedly one of the easiest methods of meat cooking available today. And, since no fat is added in this method of preparation, it finds a special welcome with weight-watchers.

For best results cuts that are to be broiled should be at least 1 inch thick. Steaks cut less than 1 inch may be panbroiled.

No matter which method you choose, a juicy, tender steak is achieved through the use of low temperature. Another excellent point to keep in mind is that steaks are always seasoned after browning. Salting before browning tends to draw out juices which retard the browning process.

The first step in broiling steaks is to set the regulator to the broiling position. Next place the steak on the broiler rack and insert the broiler pan and rack so the top of a 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is brown, season and turn to finish cooking on the second side. Then season on the second side.

Steaks 1 inch thick require 18 to 20 minutes total broiling time for rare steak, and 20 to 25 minutes for medium-done steak. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require 30 to 35 minutes for rare steak and 35 to 45 minutes for medium steak.

Have the remainder of the meal ready so that when the steak comes out of the broiler, it can be eaten immediately.

of these talks was scheduled to day.

No progress was made in the four earlier meetings, but the United States is anxious to keep the contact in hopes of finding some common ground for peaceful solution.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

PRESIDIO, Tex. (AP) — The Rio Grande, a swollen monster three to four miles wide, crumbled homes as it swept through the Presidio Valley of southwest Texas and isolated thousands at border cities Monday.

New walls of water were expected from continued deluges along the Rio Conchos in northern Mexico.

About 30 families were evacuated in Presidio. One man was reported drowned on the Mexican side of the river.

The water washed away about 1,000 feet of Santa Fe track, cutting rail connections to northern Mexico.

The University of Michigan challenges the boasts of Florida citrus growers that they have the most health-giving foods. Michigan produces Vitamin C in its blackberries, cantaloupe, apples, grapes and watermelon. Which, they say, has considerable more zest than a Florida orange.

HARRISBURG (AP) — William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry, says Gov. George Leader's Committee on Migratory Labor will ask the 1959 Legislature for funds for various migrant labor programs.

Batt, chairman of the committee, said Monday the committee was studying the proposed programs.

To Help Schools

The proposals outlined by Batt would include funds for child-care services and summer schools for children in migrant families; funds to reimburse local school districts that have these children as temporary students, and funds to local school districts to increase summer youth recreational programs.

Batt said the committee also is considering possible legislation to regulate charges made to migrant workers at labor camp commissaries for food and other necessities. Batt said in some areas workers are exploited through exorbitant charges for food.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Fisher opens his television season tonight but wife Debbie Reynolds won't be with him as originally planned. They separated over his dating of Elizabeth Taylor in New York.

Traffic Safety Group Meeting

HARRISBURG (AP) — Members of Gov. Leader's Traffic Safety Council met today to consider recommendations to further implement Pennsylvania's proposed "ten-year blueprint for traffic safety."

The council, a nonpartisan group of about 30 safety-minded citizens and state officials, is planning steps designed to develop a long-range program which will provide greater traffic safety in the state.

Political Instability Is Ended In France As Fifth Republic Is Now Reality

AP News Analyst
The vote throughout metropolitan France and her overseas departments Sunday has written history to the Fourth Republic. As the French would say, long live the Fifth Republic!

The conception was the work of a master politician, and the new constitution is a most remarkable document. Gen. De Gaulle has achieved the astonishing feat of satisfying almost everybody in France—except the Communists.

The constitution now offers the country a chance to rescue itself from the hopeless mess engendered by the dogged political individualism of the average Frenchman. One wonders whether even the French will find a way of wrecking the chance.

DeGaulle Sagacious
There is a touch of grandeur in the bold sweep of this document, which will stand as an immense tribute to the sagacity and political daring of Premier De Gaulle himself. He has given France a real chance of putting an end to the chronic instability which has brought an average of almost two governments a year in the 14 years since the country was liberated from the Nazis.

De Gaulle has been able to overcome the gnawing French fear of the political strongman, and the country now is headed for a strong central government. He has given France a chance, too, to overcome the unhealthy effects of splinter party activities. At last there will be a check on the Assembly's violent politics. The splinter groups no longer will be so easily able to wield a balance of power and thus exercise so large a measure of control over national policies.

Executive Is Key
The National Assembly will be elected by universal national suffrage. The Senate will be chosen by indirect vote. But the key to the future is in the executive.

The new basic law provides for election of the President by an electoral college made up of about 80,000 persons. These are the elected members of Parliament and the elected municipal councilors and mayors in some 38,000 communes. Some of the communes are tiny villages from which only the mayor will vote. In others, the mayor and a number of councilors will be in the college.

The vote for President thus provides representation for the whole country. But the vote will be heavily weighted to the conservative side among the local councilors. The result thus indicates a strongly conservative chief executive, vested with important powers. The hand of the master politician is evident in this.

Continuity Assured
France's leftists and even centrists who longed for a government with sufficient staying power to carry out long-term policies can see their answer in the new constitution. But the conservatives hurled Saturday at Lawrence, the Republican national chairman.

Nixon To Aid GOP Candidates In Pa.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon plans a flying trip to Pittsburgh Oct. 10 for a public appearance and speech in behalf of Republican candidates for statewide offices.

Tentative plans announced over the weekend by Republican headquarters here call for Nixon to arrive at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport from Columbus, Ohio. He will travel by motorcade to downtown Pittsburgh and speak at a reception. He is slated to return to Washington the same day.

Informal surveys of potential sites have been made.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

May Put Space Base At Equator

DALLAS (AP) — Some scientists are urging that the United States establish facilities along the Equator soon for launching manned space craft.

James R. Dempsey of San Diego, vice president of Convair Aeronautics Division of General Dynamics Corp., told newsmen that launching directly over the Equator would make possible establishment of an orbit that always would trace the same path through the sky. This would require a minimum number of communication stations.

Half and half, sold in some parts of the country, is a mixture of cream and milk or skimmed milk with no less than 10 per cent milk fat.

For Elegant cold salmon, garnish it the French way: with gherkins, hard-cooked eggs, anchovies, capers and fish aspic. Serve the fish with homemade mayonnaise.

Trained And Experienced Servants Demand Big Wages, Good Working, Living Conditions

EDITOR'S NOTE: From one coast to the other, housewives are dismayed at one characteristic of modern America: the dwindling supply and high cost of domestic help. Second in a three-part series, this story describes the situation in the New York region.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Madame summoned the butler 15 minutes before dinnertime to say that she and her husband had decided, after all, to dine in a restaurant. Cook took a disgusted look at the crown roast and the souffle, packed and left her $400-a-month job.

"Those employers were inconsiderate," said Lida Strohman of New York's Bonfield agency, "and they were also stupid. Mary is a good cook, experienced and they were lucky to get her. They won't be so lucky again — word travels fast in servant circles."

Short Of Trained Help

In New York's metropolitan area, trained, experienced servants are in short supply and thus can demand big wages, good working and living conditions, and a degree of appreciation. Good ones can just about write their own tickets: Maine, Newport or Long Island's north shore in the summer; Palm Beach in season, and the city briefly in spring and fall is not an unusual schedule. The recession has had no noticeable effect so far.

Prices are high. A trained cook can demand from $300 to $400 a month. A good housekeeper in a one-servant family is likely to get $50 to $75 a week. A houseman — who can cook and serve — can make $100. And husband and wife teams range upwards from $400.

Room Was Too Small

Live-in help usually receive, in addition to pleasant rooms, full board and uniforms, one day off a week plus every other Sunday. At one agency, a report had just been received that one client had just turned down a $250 a month job "because the room was too small and the bedspread doesn't match the curtains"

Reasons for the shortages are many. Supplies of "greenhorns" from once-prime servant sources — Ireland, Britain, France, Scandinavia — are dwindling because of immigration restrictions. Negroes remain an important source. Although many Puerto Ricans are moving into the New York area and would like domestic work, they are untrained in northern living habits and food likes. And domestic work, largely because of stigmas supposedly attached to it, has never appealed to young, white Americans.

Engage Part-time Help

As a result of the shortage and high prices, many families have given up trying to keep full-time help. Many of them have cleaning women one or more days a week. The going rate in the city ranges from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour plus bus fares and it's just about the same in the suburbs. When they entertain, they hire a cook and a butler by the job or by the hour. Some trained domestics have left private service and hire out as caterers, taking over the whole job of giving a party for a fixed fee.

Mrs. Strohman said that trained help prefer to work in households with a staff, particularly if the home is in New York City.

Do Your Own Work

"But if you live out of town, have children and can just afford one housekeeper," she said, "you might just as well start learning how to do the work yourself. People for such jobs are hard to find. They get lonely, have nothing to do on their off hours and there's a lot of travel getting back and forth to the city and their friends."

COMPANIONSHIP NECESSARY FOR YOUNG COUPLES

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
The Associated Press

Listen to this voice from the past, speaking to young married women of almost a century ago:

"Your husband will feel it his duty to provide you with all he can, by his industry, to make the house comfortable. In return, you must feel your duty is to do all you can to make yourself an agreeable companion, and by your faithful care of what he provides, and

His father says no teen-ager of his will ever have an old jalopy.

Ed's parents need to do a job in making him feel more worthwhile. They need to build him up and let him know they think he is a good kid.

Ed himself is old enough to understand that much of his resentment is not really based on fact as it is today. His sister does have some good points and she's tremendously proud of her big brother's record on the baseball team. Brags about him to all her friends. She's as much interested in jazz as he is and with a little real effort on both their parts they might discover that each was not only bearable but even quite decent.

Son's Complaints

"Sally, she's Dad's favorite. Dad thinks she is just about perfect! Why can't I get good grades like Sally? Why don't I keep my room neat the way Sally does?

Mrs. Strohman said that trained help prefer to work in households with a staff, particularly if the home is in New York City.

Do Your Own Work

"But if you live out of town, have children and can just afford one housekeeper," she said, "you might just as well start learning how to do the work yourself. People for such jobs are hard to find. They get lonely, have nothing to do on their off hours and there's a lot of travel getting back and forth to the city and their friends."

THE GREEK WAY — Juvenile delinquents, heads shaven and carrying signs listing offenses, are paraded through Athens street in an attempt to stem hooliganism.

the household that there's not much chance of the young men having time to go elsewhere!

It's no longer a matter of just the bride knocking herself out, as Mrs. Putnam says, "to make the house comfortable" and be "an agreeable companion." The young man at her side is also pitching in with a little domestic science while he spellbinds her.

What Happened?

How did this happen? Sociologists and psychiatrists may attribute the new situation to a dozen causes. But many practical young people say it stems from the fact that today more young women work at outside jobs than ever before. Chances are that the money she earns helps to pay for his easy chair, and that part of her salary stretches the food budget.

In turn, men have discovered the vacuum-cleaner and the electric mixer; and that there's nothing demeaning or undignified in running the former over the living-room rug or turning on the latter to mash the potatoes. They use the same electricity when they cut the lawn with a power mower or turn on the drill in a home workshop.

Not at all! The groom had brought back some frozen packages, aptly named convenience foods, in his market basket. All the food needed was heating and the supper of meat loaf with tomato sauce, mashed potatoes, and green peas was ready. The only other thing the host was required to do was to dispose of the aluminum plates and he and his bride were ready to welcome their guests!

FUN COMES IN STITCHES FOR THE CHILDREN

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

The difference between a run-of-the-mill school dress and a favorite costume lies in the individual touches a bright mother may add.

One of the simplest and most effective ways to add a custom touch to children's clothes is with gay appliques. All you need are some bright scraps from the ragbag, a little imagination and a sewing machine. Iron-on tape also comes in handy for features, buttons and other accents too small to stitch on laughing apples, florid flowers or a cheerful Humpty-Dumpty.

Appliques are done with the versatile satin stitch on your automatic machine or zigzag attachment. Local sewing center experts give you some tips on how to make them.

Specific Instructions
First sketch your design on paper and trace it onto the fabric. Back fabric with organdy, basting pieces together. Make features or other designs on applique before cutting out. Leave full inch all around applique when cutting. Baste in place on dress. Work close satin stitch around outline of design and trim away excess fabric close to line of stitching. Here are specific instructions for some gay designs:

1. Laughing apples in black and white gingham are sprinkled around the hem of a white pique dress. The black might be repeated in corded trim on the dress. After sketching and tracing apples, back with organdy. Automatic stitching in combination with iron-on tape makes the features. The eyelashes may be done automatically with the comb stitch, or by making a curved line of zigzag stitching and filling in lashes by hand. To make the mouth, trace outline on a scrap of white iron-on tape and iron in place. Trace around mouth outline with red satin stitch, and trim away excess fabric. The eyes are little triangles. Or you can make one winking eye and one open eye, outlined in zigzag stitching on iron-on pupil.

2. Paper dolls are another hem-line decoration. They may be cut out and traced onto white pique. Again, the little figures are backed with organdy. The buttons are of tiny black circles of iron-on tape. (Try a paper punch to get even circles.) White satin stitching outlines the dolls; the little girl is finished with red ribbons for her pigtails.

3. The simplest little dress of dark cotton can be a conversation piece with a single figure accenting the hemline — in this case, a dignified HUMPTY-DUMPTY. To make this figure, first draw egg outline on yellow cotton. Baste plaid fabric in place to cover lower half of egg. Make eyes, nose and buttons of iron-on tape, satin-stitch mouth. Add bow tie of black bias tape. Back egg with organdy and yellow cotton. Draw legs and arms on yellow cotton backing. Cut out egg, legs, and arms, leaving seam allowance around all pieces. Stitch around top of egg half way down yellow section. Stitch on "fence" of red bias tape. Let the same line of stitching secure the hemline. Baste egg in place, and satin-stitch. Trim away excess fabric close to line of stitching.

A Single Tall Flower

4. A single tall flower is the perfect accent for a child's trapeze dress — particularly when it's a yellow calico flower on a moss-green cotton. To make this design, first trace flower outline on yellow calico. Trace leaves on solid yellow. Make pot of bright red. Back all pieces with organdy. Make black face of flower of iron-on tape, with white mouth and eyes. Baste flower, leaves and pot in place on dress. Stitch around outline of them.

Different Conceptions
Q. I have been invited to a very formal party where gloves will be worn. What shall I do when I want to eat or when I must shake hands with someone? Should I leave the gloves on or remove flower in yellow satin stitch; stitch petals in satin stitch. Use yellow satin stitch for leaves; red satin stitch for pot with scalloped top. Make stem of black satin stitch.

5. Here's a delightful treatment for a front-buttoning dress — a with jet buttons forming the centers of white pique flowers. Here, simply cut several flower shapes of white pique, backing them with organdy. Baste and stitch in place along front closing. Connect flowers with black satin stitch, and make buttonholes in centers of flowers. Sew on buttons of jet black.

Trap Burglars In Routine Checkup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two Levittown youths in a souped-up 1941 auto were stopped for a routine check Sunday and more than $1,000 in stolen movie house receipts was found in the car.

The two were Ronald Jackson, 16, and Michael Buck, 17. Patrolman Gerald Blumberg, curious about the old car and its occupants, stopped them in northeast Philadelphia. Blumberg found a total of $1,142.63 hidden under a leather jacket on the rear seat.

The youths admitted climbing through a skylight at the Town Theater in Levittown and taking the money, police said. They were turned over to Tullytown Borough police.

Usually Works

Q. What sort of allowance should I have for furnishing my room at college? Is my roommate supposed to share the expense of it with me?

A. It usually works out so that roommates ferret out of their attics and basements just what their respective families can afford to part with in the way of furniture. After that if additional items are needed — new curtains, floor mat, lamps or bed throws, the two get together and decide how much they will spend on those items, sharing the cost.

Q. Do you see any harm in my boyfriend driving me back to college? It is 150 miles from where I live.

A. Not if your parents permit it.

Young Moderns

BY VIVIAN BROWN

When do you take your gloves off at a formal gathering? Do I have to buy a chemise? How much money should I spend on my room at school? Those are a few of the questions that bother young people as they prepare to go back to school.

"I cannot afford to buy more than a few dresses a year," writes an 18-year-old college sophomore, "so I must take a date dress back to school with me, and I don't want to buy a chemise. I have a nice figure but I'm just a little too hippy for a chemise."

A. One of the few styles to emerge from the sack is the Empire silhouette, and advance fall showings predict that it will be all the rage with the younger set, for whom there couldn't be a prettier style. This was the style worn by some of history's most romantic figures.

Different Conceptions
Q. I have been invited to a very formal party where gloves will be worn. What shall I do when I want to eat or when I must shake hands with someone? Should I leave the gloves on or remove

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
More than 800 camera fans gathered recently on the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst to attend the 13th annual summer outing of the New England Camera Club Council. Jim Pond, a successful advertising and cover photographer, started the proceedings off with a lively and informative talk.

Jim's technique, while discussing out advice, was highly uninhibited. He blew a whistle and fired a cap pistol to emphasize the exact instant at which photographers should "shoot" to capture a picture. He demonstrated his points with models, props and costume changes.

One of Jim's ideas was that photographer friends should band together for cooperative camera projects. He illustrated it with an four friends.

They were interested in hunting and fishing pictures so they selected an area in the Adirondack mountains. Each brought appropriate clothes, props and sports gear besides his photo equipment.

On location, they drew lots to determine order of shooting. Number One was photographer for the day and all the others became not only his models but assistants and prop movers.

Jim revealed a few tricks in shooting fishing and tennis action pictures. Tying a rock to the end of a line enables the fisherman to look as though he has a catch at the end of the taut line. Then another assistant, out of camera range, tossed some pebbles into the water next to the line. The ripples and splashes add appropriate action and realism to the picture.

Tennis Action Photos

For good tennis action photos, it is not difficult to catch the tennis ball when and where you want with Jim's method. He simply tied a tennis fall with strong white thread to the end of a fishing line. Then an assistant, out of camera range with the pole, maneuvered the ball into proper position for a serve, backhand or what have you.

Where does he get his picture ideas, someone asked Jim Pond. "I steal them!" he answered unhesitatingly.

"I watch newspapers, magazines . . . all kinds of publications. Whenever I see a photograph, drawing, article or item that has the slightest suggestion for a picture, I file it."

"When I have to shoot a picture, I look in my files under the appropriate subject and go over all the accumulated items. By borrowing, twisting, adapting and changing, plus my own ideas, I come up with an original picture. "It's something every photo fan can do."

IKE'S RECORD PRAISED IN NIXON SPEECH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon is giving signs that as a campaigner he intends to return to his 1954 form when he was the scourge of the Democrats.

Nixon kicked off his campaigning for a Republican Congress with a speech in Indianapolis, Ind., Monday night. In it, he urged party members to take off the gloves for what he characterized as "the fight of our lives."

There were echoes of the Nixon of four years ago as he sailed into what he called "the cheap, below-the-belt cracks of Harry Truman and his ilk" and spoke of the "frightening alternative" to the election of Republicans.

Change of Aim

Former President Truman was a favorite Nixon target in 1954. Then the Democrats said the vice president went around the country insinuating that their party was soft on communism. Truman said Nixon had called him a traitor, a charge the vice president denied.

In 1956 Nixon threw the Democrats off stride. Instead of assaulting them bitterly as he had two years previously, he spent most of his time talking about the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

In his Indianapolis speech Nixon defended the administration's record. He boasted that six years under Eisenhower "have been the best six years in the history of this country." Then he drew a dark picture of what would happen if the Democrats increase their strength in Congress.

Socialism Target

For the "Communist" issue of 1954 he substituted the threat of socialism of health, housing, power, farming and other American institutions.

Nixon said that if the opposition wins more strength, the country will be "for a wild spending binge" by radical Democrats, drunk with visions of votes and not pink but dead elephants."

He said a Democratic victory not only will mean a trend to big government but a kiss of death for legislation to control labor racketeering.

Tie To Teamsters

The Republican National Committee followed up this line today with a campaign broadside contending that "extensive and generous" campaign contributions have been made to Democrats by the Teamsters Union. The union has been the subject of extended investigations by the Senate Rackets Committee.

The GOP cited a series of contributions, going back as far as 1954, including $30,000 it said the Teamsters had contributed to Democratic funds to help re-elect Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) in 1956.

President Names Another To Staff

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower, it was reported Monday, will complete the reorganization of the White House staff with the appointment of Undersecretary Fred C. Scribner Jr. as the deputy assistant to the president.

The report of the selection of Scribner, 49, as deputy to Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons was carried by the New York Times in a Washington dispatch.

Scribner is a lawyer and former Republican national committeeman from Bath, Maine.

Lancaster Golfer Wins Tournament

CLEMENTON, N. J. (AP) — Harry Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., won the George Arthur Crump Memorial Cup Sunday by defeating W. B. (Duff) McCullough of Philadelphia 1 up in the 34th annual tournament at Pine Valley Golf Club.

Haverstick, Pennsylvania's state amateur champion three times, never trailed, but he saw his lead diminish on the last four holes. Leading 4 up at the 14th, he missed a two-foot putt and the hole was halved. McCullough, won the next three holes and the players halved the final hole.

Haverstick defeated John Guenther of Hershey, Pa., 3 and 2 in the semifinal and McCullough topped Richmond McConnell of Philadelphia 7 and 6.

GATHER DATA ON DIVORCES IN THIS STATE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania for the first time is compiling complete statistics on its divorces and annulments. Dr. Albert E. Bailey of the Department of Health disclosed today.

Dr. Bailey, director of the Division of Statistics and Research, said the statistics will give sociologists a chance to pinpoint areas of high divorce rate in the Keystone State.

He emphasized, however, there is no plan in mind to seek revision of the state's divorce laws.

Seeking State Picture

"All we are seeking is a picture of Pennsylvania in relation to the other states and also a county-by-county, city-by-city comparison within the state," Dr. Bailey said.

It might be, he said, that where the rate is found to be higher than the state's average, an effort would be made to persuade a stricter or more conscientious effort by the attorneys and jurists involved to avert divorces.

In Pennsylvania, a standard procedure is to appoint an attorney as a master to study the case in divorce proceedings and to recommend action by the county court.

Pennsylvania has been counting its total divorces for several years. But until this year it made no effort to break them down by counties or cities, nor to collect enlightening information about the divorces.

7 Manslaughter Charges Filed

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — A Washington County grand jury will consider involuntary manslaughter charges against seven mine supervisors in connection with an explosion and fire that killed six workers at the Marianne Mine in 1957.

Hold for grand jury action at a hearing Monday night were T. J. Jones, Albert Salvadore, George Iddings, Harry Hariditsky, Viard T. Moore, George Zimmerman and Albert Williams. They are charged with violating various mining laws.

39 LAWYERS ADMITTED

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thirty-nine attorneys were admitted Monday to practice in the State Supreme Court.

Included were John Cartwright Jr., Harold B. Klein and Ralph F. Scalera, all of Beaver County; William U. Smith, Clearfield; Ronald M. Katzman, Dauphin County; William R. Ralph Jr., Lawrence County; and Thomas Kilroe, Wayne County.

CITES GAPS IN HELP FOR AGED

SHARON, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Leader said today there are major gaps in the nation's social security system in affording protection for unemployment, old age and sudden major illnesses.

The Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate said the Republican leaders in Congress and the Administration beat down efforts by Democrats at the last session to set up uniform standards among the states for unemployment compensation benefits and to increase social security benefits.

The national recession, he said, has demonstrated how pitifully inadequate is our unemployment compensation system."

Leader made this one of his scheduled stops on a day-long tour through Crawford, Venango and Mercer counties.

In his prepared remarks, Leader said "true social security for all our people is one of the greatest areas of unfinished legislative business for the Congress of the United States."

The national recession, he said, has demonstrated how pitifully inadequate is our unemployment compensation system."

Pointing to the bill last session which provided emergency Federal funds to the unemployed who exhausted their regular state benefits, Leader—terming the bill a patchwork—said "from present indications even these will expire before the recession is over."

M'GONIGLE HAS 4-POINT PLAN

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four-point program to accelerate Pennsylvania's industrial redevelopment was advanced today by Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the small businessman's committee McGonigle said that if elected he would:

Continue efforts to eliminate areas of chronic unemployment through the close cooperation of federal, state and local agencies and resources.

Encourage every segment of our economy—management, labor and financial—to induce expansion and growth of our commerce and industry.

Expand the Department of Commerce to assure special facilities for aiding small business.

Encourage and continue to assist local industrial development groups in their efforts to induce industry to locate in Pennsylvania communities.

Spectacular Charge In Cinder Scandal Taken Up In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Dauphin County Court today took up spectacular charges of abortive attempts to link a Supreme Court justice to the current cinder scandal and to improperly influence a cinder conviction appeal in the Superior Court.

Judge Homer L. Kreider said he would seek "all the facts" in the charges, made by Philip J. Price, former Lancaster County high twice - convicted Vic to Prep, Frackville cinders contractor.

The statement on cinders scandals in Lancaster County was made to state police by Price and entered in court here Monday.

"Effort At Truth"

Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling described the statement as "an effort to tell the truth."

Price, who was paroled last week after serving a month of a 3-to-12-month sentence on a cinders fraud conspiracy conviction, previously denied any wrongdoing.

Price, convicted in the same conspiracy, is now awaiting sentence. He already is serving time for a similar conspiracy in York County to which John W. Cierand, former county highways superintendent, pleaded guilty.

"Our Word Against Theirs"

"After I was sentenced," said Price, "Prep (came to me and) said, 'Phil, you're in jail now. Let's throw this right back in their faces now. Put it on Herb Cohen and John Cierand. It's our word against theirs.'

Price said he was asked by Prep several times to do this against Cohen, who as attorney general helped to trigger the investigation of cinder frauds in York, Lancaster, Chester and Cambria counties. A prominent York Democrat, Cohen, was later elected to the State Supreme Court.

Tried More Influence

Price said Prep offered to "make it worth my while when I got out of jail. He said that he had persuaded (Frank) Jamieson to say the same thing."

Jamieson, former Chester County highways superintendent, is facing sentence for a cinder fraud conspiracy conviction.

The statement by Price also said that Prep attempted to bring influence to bear on President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of the State Superior Court on Prep's then pending appeal on a cinders fraud conviction. The appeal was rejected earlier this month.

Price said Jack Harris, Frackville, Prep's bookkeeper, came up with a proposition last March that Price ask David R. Eaby, Lancaster County Democratic chairman, to approach Judge Rhodes about Prep's appeal.

Denied Pressure

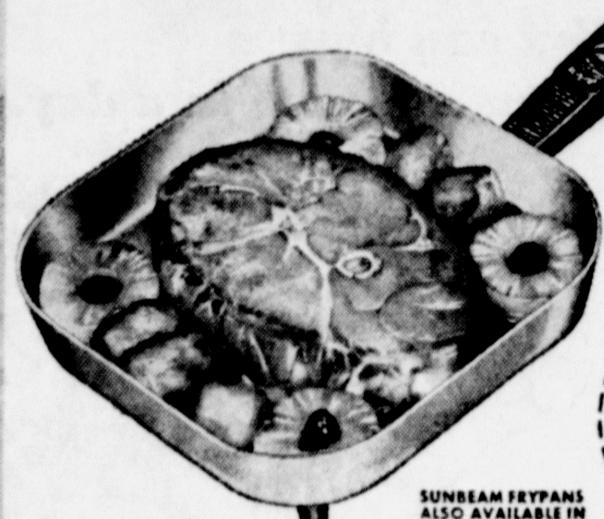

Prep recently charged that he turned over about $10,000 to Eaby in order to obtain cinder contracts. Eaby denied in court Monday that he exerted political pressure on Prep and said the Lancaster County Democratic Committee received only $400 from Prep.

Price, in his statement taken by State Police Sergeant Roy Wellendorf, said Prep asked him to testify that Eaby got $10,000.

The court denied a motion Monday

REPLACEMENTS ARE NAMED BY STATE DEMOS

Price's surprise statement also featured:

1. A claim that David Kohn, Dauphin County treasurer and Prep's co-counsel, visited him in Dauphin County Prison recently and asked what the Democrats were "doing for me."

"Holding The Bag"

Price said Kohn told him — "You're left holding the bag then" — after telling Kohn that he would not testify to support Prep's claim that Eaby received $10,000 from Prep.

2. Testimony that Price paid $200 for four occasions to State Trooper Jerome Pleinick of the Lancaster substation for carrying envelopes containing money from Prep to Price.

3. An admission that Price received no more than $3,000 in payments from Prep, most of which was used to further the Democratic organization in Columbia where Price served as Democratic borough chairman.

4. A statement that Eaby was unaware of the cinders frauds although on one occasion Prep planned to tell Eaby about the plot but did not do so.

MAY BUCK FIRE RATE INCREASE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The City of Philadelphia will oppose a requested increase in state fire insurance rates if they discriminate unfairly against home owners.

David Berger, city solicitor, said today.

He said Francis R. Smith, state insurance commissioner, has granted a Philadelphia request for an open hearing on state fire insurance rates. No date was set.

Berger's announcement followed a request Monday by the Middle Department Assn. of Fire Underwriters for a general increase in rates throughout Pennsylvania.

Facts Asked

"I have requested all available information from Commissioner Smith," Berger said. "I want to take a long, hard look at the facts before I decide what the city's position will be."

Bruce Carter, 17, of the Langhorne Fire Company, was treated for smoke inhalation at the scene.

Figures involved in the rate request were not revealed. Some observers believe the underwriters want a general increase of 20 percent in categories covering business and residential buildings in Philadelphia.

The average home owner who must get fire insurance does not have the economic capacity to investigate a request for an increase," Berger said. "It is my duty as city solicitor to step in and protect the interests of all the people, especially those of the average home owner."
